Bradley Fitting Up Expedition.
AUGUSTA, GA., January 3.—John R.
Bradley, the New York millionaire, who backed Dr. Cook in his polar expedition, confirmed to the Associated Press to-night that he contemplates another expedition into the Arctic Ocean. He expects to leave in July, and his present purpose is to accompany it. He can give no details until he further hears from Capiain Sverdrup, with whom he is in correspondepec on the matter. Mr. Bradley says that the expedition is to have nothing to do with any of the Cook explorations, and that it is but one of his privale enterprises, which he has sent, not only into the polar regions, but into Asia and Africa.

Horse Show Building—Circus, matinee and night.

Lillian Russell in Farce.
About two-thirds of a house last night at the Academy of Music saw Lillian Russell, the ever beautiful, in all her wonderful beauty, her blazing jewels, and, presumably, superb Kowns.

Is supported by a capable company for the more part. In an absurd farce, called "The First Night," adapted from some German source by George V. Hobatt—and one wonders why he did it.

The plot, if that be the name for it. deals with an old man who has two daughters, each of whom has a sweetheart. One of these sweethearts is an author, who has written a play which is just about to be produced—music by Rose Graham (enter Lillian Russell). The author and the musician have never met; she follows him to the house of his sweetheart; gets very jealous, the series of the same for the sweethearts of the other door, or covers himself with a robe in a big chair, and there follow the usual of, save in a farce of the farciest kind. Still, the audience laughed very heartily at many of the absurdities.

Digby Bell, whom everybody remembers, was really the hit of the show. As the old man with a mania for colecting photographs he was immensely comic. Susanne Westford, the very temperamental aunt of the two girls, was good. George E. Mack, as a silly young man with money, played a silly part well, and Saidee Williams, the maid, was more than good in her bit of a part.

It was all very absurd, but almost everybody seemed to enjoy it—and, then Lillian Russell is always worth looking at—she has stopped all always worth looking at—she has stopped at the Bi-viscons." Which opened at the Bi-viscons." The City Attorney reported on the same matter, that "it seems clear that the present owners of the basins and dock are not maintaining barriers, as "Arizona" at Bijou.

"Arizona" which opened at the Bijou last night, might once have been a good play, but maybe it was when old New York was Dutch. It runs along the usual "Arizona" lines, with the usual heroes, the usual villains and the usual knife and gun play. In an exciting scene at the close of the third act one of 'the heroes evidently forgot that the curtain had gone down and fired several shots behind the scenes. The bugier, whose loud notes came forth occasionally from behind the scenery, sounded as though it was slowly recovering from a big Christ; mas drunk. Honolulu Students.

After a remarkably successful season in the big cities of the North, the Honolulu Students, famous Hawalian entertainers, have begun a new tour of the country, and will be the chief attraction in a concert to be given at the Academy on Thursday evening under the direction of the Radeliffe Bureau.

The appearance of the swarthy natives in full Hawalian costume on the lyceum platforms one or two years ago caused something of a sensation, but they promptly made a "hit," and have since, by excellence of work, steadily added to their popularity. The six students were selected from the best vocal and instrumental talent in the islands, and the program of native and classical music they present has delighted many American audiences. Special interest will be taken in the weird melodies and strange instruments of Hawali and in a series of beautiful stereopticon scenes of the islands. of his most valuable records which the most valuable parts of Cook's diary, accumulated on his last trip to the frozen North, which she intends to retain until a satisfactory arrangement shall have been made.

A reporter located the two little daughters—Ruth and Helen—at the Hamilton Institute for Girls, 3 West Eighty-first Street. The children were placed in the Institution a few days before Cook disappeared. They knew nothing of the unfavorable report made by the scientists at the University of Copenhagen on their father's claim.

Yisited Daughters.

Mrs. Cook, it was learned, has visted the children once, but has not been seen by any one connected with the school for several weeks.

An effort to establish the truth of a rumor that Mrs. Cook intends to seek a separation from her husband was not successful, further than the statement of friends that sho felt very keenly the humiliation that followed Cook's failure to establish his claims to having reached the North Pole and the running away while under fire.

Mrs. R. O. Stebbins, the wife of a prominent member of the Arctic Club, who is one of Mrs. Cook's closest friends, told a reporter yesterday that the wife of the explorer was thoroughly disgusted with Cook's conduct. "Mrs. Cook is a woman of great refinement, and I know that she is completely crushed in spirit over the outcome of this Arctic matter," said Mrs.

"Unslukable" Hit by Broadsides and Goes to liottom.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., January 3.—
The air-chambered, "unsirkable" target, which cost $15,000 to build, and which was shipped from the Brooklyn Navy Yard to the Philippines to be used in the winter target practice of the Pacific fleet, went to the bottom, after receiving two broadsides from the Charleston, according to letters received at the Mare Island Navy Yard. The target was of armor plate, with protected air chambers to keep it affoat, but the six-inch guns punched it full of holes, and it sank.

Believed Gayner Will Not Reappoint Football Player.

NEW YORK, January 3.—The quips of Mayor Gaynor continue to enliven Kew York, To-day he sent the following letter to William G. Edwards, Commissioner of Street Cleaning, better remembered as "Big Bill" Edwards, of the Princeton football eleven:

"Take on a few more football players, and maybe you will do better yet.

The statement given out yesterday by Mayor Gaynor seemed to indicate that Edwards would be removed to make way for a new commissioner of the Mayor's own choice. Besides Edwards there are the following football stars in the Street Cleaning Department: James J. Hogan, an old and the general of the day, testified as to things transpiring while Yale captain; Harry Yanghan, the Yale Ya

Japanese Diplomat Goes Home to Report Korean Polley.
SEOUL KOREA, January 3.—Vis. count Sone, Japunese resident-general in Korea, has left for Tokto. Many civil and military officials, both Japanese and Korean, the foreign consuls and other friends, gathered at the railroad station to wish the viscount a plensant trip home and an early return here. It is believed that the resident-general will explain his Korean policy to the Japanese government, and, it the same is indorsed, that he will return. Should the government fail to approve his plans, he will probably resign.
